

Sample double major in Computer Science (BA) and Psychology

The CMPS courses marked with a (*) are just examples of possible choices. Other courses can be substituted. The set of courses chosen meets the capstone requirement and the breadth requirement of the CMPS BA.

The “CMPS Elec” courses must be chosen from the Computer Science upper division course list.

The “CMPS TechElec” courses are chosen from the CMPS Technical Elective list which is a broad set of courses most from outside of the Computer Science department.

The upper division Psychology courses are listed as “PSYC Elec” courses (8 in all) and must be chosen 2 each from 4 different categories. There are many ways to select these courses. Only one of the upper division Psychology courses chosen as a specific course, PSYC 150, which also satisfies the general education requirement for Scientific Inquiry (SI).

“GE” represents the General Education code.

Note: Every attempt has been made to avoid errors and omissions in the above plan. Students are advised to consult the campus catalog and the advising staff from both departments to confirm that all requirements are met. In addition, course offerings change from year to year so the courses may need to be taken in quarters other than those indicated in this sample plan.
